

The Janesville Daily Gazette.

JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1882.

Published Every Evening Except Sunday, at $7 a Year.

NUMBER 256

The German immigrants to Wisconsin during the past year numbered 15,704.

The witness fees in the Guiteau case amount to $7,000, which are less than at first supposed they would be.

Postmaster General Howe has made his son, Frank, chief clerk of the department, and now some newspapers are shouting nepotism.

The total number of children of school age in Wisconsin is 489,142, and of this number, 295,162 have attended school during the past year.

Adeline Patti sang to a twelve thousand dollar house in Chicago last night. Haverly's was jammed, and even standing room was at a premium.

Probably because Dr. W. A. Hammond was not permitted to become one of President Garfield's surgeons, he has taken the ground that Guiteau is insane.

During 1881 there were 47,956 immigrants arrived in Milwaukee who came to make Wisconsin their home. The immigration was the largest known for several years.

The handsomest woman in Washington is Mrs. Moore, the wife of a Congressman from Tennessee. Probably there are many other Congressman's wives who are not in Washington yet.

Governor Smith, of Wisconsin, whose term of Chief Executive of Wisconsin, has just expired, says, except being President of the United States, the greatest honor that can come to a man is that which he has enjoyed for four years. The Governor has evidently been well treated.

Inter Ocean.

And the people have been "excellently well" treated in having such a Governor.

Following the suggestion made by the Gazette last summer, the Washburn Observatory will hereafter furnish the standard time to all railway stations in the State. The Observatory is now connected with the Western Union telegraph office by telegraph, and by this means the standard time can be easily furnished.

The new church for Dr. J. P. Newman, in New York, will be a sort of a Congregational church, although Dr. Newman is a Methodist. He will have to follow him—General Grant, Jay Gould, Shepard Knapp, and several other millionaires. The first thing to be considered in the new church, is wealth, and piety will be talked over afterwards.

A few years ago, the misplacement of a comma in one of the revenue laws enacted by Congress, cost the government several million dollars. It has just been learned that the Illinois Legislature made an error last winter in using a comma in one of the laws enacted, which robbed the country newspapers of a good deal of printing which the Legislature intended to give. In this case, the treasury of the State is benefited, while the country newspapers are蒙羞 over the mischief a little comma has done.

There are some hopes that the Guiteau case will be given to the jury by Thursday of next week. The law points were presented to Judge Cox to-day, and he will rule upon them to-morrow. Mr. Davidge will then open the argument for the prosecution which will open all of Saturday. Scoville will reply for the defense on Monday and Reed will follow him. It is said that Guiteau will be permitted to address the jury if he desires to do so. If he should do this, the humiliation and disgrace would be even greater than the trial itself. Judge Porter will close for the prosecution which will end the trial. It is not expected that the arguments will consume more than four days.

One of the most important libel suits ever commenced in this State is that instituted by John J. Orton against Henry M. Finch, both of Milwaukee. The complaint alleges that Finch called Orton a practical robber and a brigand for which $30,000 in demands. It is then alleged that Finch called Orton an unprincipled fellow and a dishonest man, and for that he sued for the sum of $10,000. Then, for general slander, tending to disgrace the plaintiff and making the public believe that he was a great criminal, guilty of a capital crime, should be sent to the State prison, and struck from the roll of attorneys, he sued for $50,000, making the entire amount demanded in the complaint, $90,000, besides the costs of the action. This suit is the result of the personal fight which has been going on between Orton and Finch for some time. There does not seem to be any very flattering prospects that the bar of Milwaukee will soon see the personal animosity between these men die out.

No one who understands the financial condition of the State, and who keeps informed in regard to the general affairs of the State government, will hesitate to pronounce the administration of Governor Smith one of the most perfect and successful ever given to the people of Wisconsin. A cleaner cut administration—one in which high manly integrity, faithful labor, and marked ability were so prominent—never was elected in this State.

When Governor Smith's administration began, the general fund had been overdrawn some $150,000. When he turned over the government to the new officers, there was a balance of $173,000 on the other side of the ledger.

Special to the Gazette.

NEW YORK, January 6.—Kinkowsky, the murderer of Nina Muller, was hanged in the Jersey City jail-yard at 10:30. Only the coroner, the sheriff, the jury and the members of the press were allowed in the yard. He died without a struggle. He bade farewell to his wife last night, and protested his innocence to the last.

THE QUINCY PANIC.

Frightful Panic in a Church Attended by a False Alarm.

QUINCY, Ill., January 5.—During the funeral of the Rev. Simon Kuhleheenhoelter, at Salem Evangelical church, this afternoon, a frightful panic occurred. In the rush for the street some forty persons were injured, six, all ladies, seriously. The church is one of the largest in the city, and was filled with the friends of the deceased. All the seats were filled, and the standing-room in the aisles and about the doors was occupied. Soon after the services commenced the panic occurred. It is said that a seat in the gallery broke down. The people in the vicinity thought the gallery was giving away and a rush was commenced. Men, women, and children poured out of the doors leading from the main floor and the gallery into the hall leading to the street. All efforts to stop them were fruitless. The people were frantic and would listen to nothing. In less than two minutes the door-way was blocked up and the scene that followed was indescribable. The women who were caught in the crowd were thrown down and trampled upon. Their shrieks and the shouting of the men, who seemed to be frightened out of their senses, were fearful. For fully ten minutes the doorway was blocked up, and during the greater portion of this time half a dozen women lay on the steps under the feet of the frightened crowd. A few men who had lost their scare went to work heroically to rescue the women and succeeded in getting them out after they had been walked over by a large number of men. As fast as taken out the victims were taken to adjoining houses and cared for.

OSKALOOSA EXPLOSION.

Particulars of the Horrible Occurrence.

OSKALOOSA, Iowa, Jan. 5.—An explosion occurred at 4 o'clock p. m. to-day whereby 500 kegs of powder, the property of the American Powder company, went up in a terrific convulsion, caused by some boys using the wooden magazine as a target for a breech-loading rifle. John Phillips, son of the mayor, whose father drew the rifle as a prize on New Year's day, Gerald Joyce and John Stedman were the boys engaged in the target exercise, and were all instantly killed, being fearfully mangled and burned. They were carried from 50 to 200 yards from the magazine, and mangled almost beyond recognition.

The explosion caused great damage to windows, nearly all the plate-glass fronts in the business quarter of the city being wrecked, while many houses in the north part of the city suffered severely, the damage aggregating not less than $20,000.

Many persons were injured by falling glass and debris.

KOKOMO, Iowa, Jan. 5.—The shock of the explosion at Oskaloosa to-day was felt at Monroe, on the Kokomo and Des Moines division of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, a distance of nearly thirty miles from the scene of the explosion.

No More Hard Times.

If you will stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food, etc., buy good, healthy food, cheaper clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of employing expensive, quack doctors or using so much of the vile hambuug medicine that does you only harm, but put your trust in that simple, pure, remedy, Hop Bitters; that cures well at a trifling cost, and you will see good times and have good health. EDUCATIONAL STATISTICS.

EDISON, WIS., Jan. 5.—State Superintendent Whitford to-day completed the compilation of some interesting educational statistics. The total number of children of school age in Wisconsin is 489,142; number who have attended public schools during the year, 295,162; number ungraded schools, 5,701; number graded schools, 474; number of high schools, 130; number teachers required for public schools, 7,065; number of school houses, 5,753; number erected during the year, 245; number of pupils the school houses will accommodate, 363,932; number of pupils who have attended them, 24,624; valuation of school houses, $4,580,187.95; of sites, $784,125.80; apparatus and libraries, $175,525.95. Total, $5,543,019.61. Aggregate receipts for school purposes, including balances on hand and tax levies, $2,831,688.46; aggregate expenditures, $2,301,035.34. Number of pupils in university, normal schools, colleges, seminaries, and State institutions, 8,088; number of graduates therefrom during the year, 426.

Frightful Misery.

Mr. Wm. Pomeroy, Bangor, Me., writes: "I have for a long time suffered from continual constipation, making my life a misery, and causing headache and frightful cramps. Mr. Thompson (who has been lately visiting in Buffalo), induced me to try the SPRING BLOSSOM. It has perfectly cured me." Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents.

"Something Good in the Fellow."

An eminent public man who shall be named—a man of great intellectual power, of real goodness of heart at bottom, but sadly broken and demoralized by a long continued course of wrong living and much wrong doing—was once told by a boon companion how a certain other public man had been abusing him.

"Never mind," said our eminent friend, whose soul was really above the level of petty scandal and malice. "The fellow is only a dirty blackguard, and I care not to know what he says of me."

"But, tut, tut! My character—what there is of it—is too tough for such a man to injure it; my credit is a phantom, at best; and as for my prospects in the future, I doubt if he can make them more dubious than they now are."

"Well, well—there's something good in the fellow after all. Bless the rascal for the truth he tells—for, my dear fellow, that is true—as true as gospel."

The great man sat for many minutes, with his head bowed down upon his hand, and when he next looked up, his face had grown wonderfully soft and pathetic.

"Yes—he told the truth! I think I'll go home and have a chat with that woman. Who know but that she may help me?"—Zounds! I have not thought of her. Bless the rascal for reminding me!" Yes, sir! He told the truth!"

And the worker for the nation—the political, work and weary—set forth to find the one being of earth in whom, when all else should have failed him, he felt he could trust.

Energy the True Mark of Genius.

Ralph Waldo Emerson, in one of his lectures, describes with the clear sweep of a painter the vital necessity of energy and labor to even the most gifted. In the present day of steam and punctuality, the lazy man, no matter how extraordinary his acquirements, must always fall behind in the race of human life. He says:

"Genius unexerted is no more genius than a bushel of acorns is a forest of oaks. There may be epics in men's brains, just as there are oaks in acorns, but the tree and the book must come before we can measure them. We very naturally recall here that class of grumbler and wishers who spend their time in longing to be higher than they are, while they should be employed in advancing themselves. These bitterly moralize upon the injustice of society.

At a meeting of some colored brethren, it was decided to make a collection. The President concluded to pass the hat himself, and, in order to encourage the others he put in a ten-cent piece.

After the collection, during which every hand had been in the hat, the President approached the table, turned the hat upside down, and not even his own contribution dropped out.

He opened his eyes with astonishment, and exclaimed, "I see eben lost de ten cents I started wid!"

Then there was consternation on the faces of the assembly. It was evidently a hopeless case, and was summed up by one brother, who rose in his place and said solemnly, "Dar 'pears to be great moral lesson roun' heah somehow."

"How did you catch fish that fast without stopping to bait your hook? Come now, Mose!"

"Bait de hook? All dem fish was on de same hook. Dar was no chance to bait de hook. De six-pound redfish; jerk agin, up comes a six-pound trout; jerk agin, up comes a seb-pound sheephead. It neber stopped one second."
